EXTENSIVE PLANS BY LOCAL BOOSTERS FOR COMING YEAR

The chamber of commerce held its annual meeting at the Woman's Club rooms over the Commercial National bank Monday evening, with a good attendance, and in going over the business of the past year President Paul clearly showed to his audience that the chamber had been doing things and still greater work is before the chamber for the coming year.

For the orange show at San Bernardino in February the committee made up of packing house managers assisted by Mr. Paul have extensive plans under way which are along the line of laying out in miniature the entire city of Upland with its steam line, the San Antonio Heights electric line and the Upland-San Bernardino line. The entire street lighting system will be carried out as well as the streets, orange groves, etc. Packing house managers are taking hold of the display with a vim that spells success and already are selecting oranges which will bring home the prizes at the show. Upland fruit is ranking far ahead of anything in Southern California this year, and chamber of commerce men are confident that Upland will be at the top notch in the awarding of prizes.

The principal business of the evening was the election of officers and although the meeting had considerable fun in naming the officers who serve without compensation, those named were glad to assist in the work. E. B. Reynolds, who has been the efficient secretary for several years, could not be persuaded to again take the work and L. N. Kirk of the J. J. Atwood Company was the unanimous choice of the meeting.

President Paul agreed to take the presidency for one more year and he is certainly a wise choice, for he has mapped out much of the work for the coming year and will put forth his best effort in behalf of the city.

Other officers elected were Chas. Ruedy, first vice-president; T. W. Nisbet, second vice-president. The directors are as follows: M. F. Palmer, E. B. Reynolds, W. R. Garrett, Chas. Ruedy, E. C. Harwood, W. E. Westland, T. W. Nisbet.

IN THE SHADOW

The death of Miss Mildred Haskett occurred Thursday, Jan. 8, at noon, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haskett, on East Ninth street.

Miss Haskett came to California about seven months ago with her stepmother, and about four months ago they came to Upland, and were soon joined by Mr. Haskett and his two sons, of North Grove, Ind.

Rec. C. C. Burkholder, Rev. S. S. Sampson and other Christian people of Upland attended the funeral and spoke of the lovely Christian character of Miss Haskett, and the many friends she had made during her short stay in Upland. Miss Haskett was a high school pupil, and her health gave way about a year ago, and the family came to California with the hope that she would recover.

The funeral services were held at Draper's parlors Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. C. C. Burkholder, assisted by Rev. J. R. Zook, had charge of the services. Two songs were rendered by the Ladies' Quarteette of the Mennonite church, and two songs by the choir of the Brethren church.

The body was placed in Draper's receiving morgue, where ti will remain until some time in March, when the family expect to return with the remains to their old home at North Grove, Ind.

JUDGE LINDSAY AT LYRIC

The Philadelphia North American, the oldest and one of the largest dailies in the country, has the following to say of the motion picture drama, "Saved by the Juvenile Court," which is to be shown at the Lyric on Thursday evening of this week:

"A little judge with a big heart, whose every movement spoke sympathy and aid for the unfortunate, won his way into the hearts of an audience of 4000 here yesterday, in a motion picture theatre.

"The judge was the "little giant," Ben B. Lindsay. He appeared in a motion picture drama telling the story of his well-known juvenile court in Denver. The drama was shown in a theatre at 1205 Market street, where from 8:30 yesterday morning until midnight sixteen different audiences crowded a room not more than thirty feet wide, occupied every chair, and at times packed the doorway in the rear.

"They were remarkable audiences. Some of the men and women who sat through the four reels of "Saved by the Juvenile Court" confessed that they had never been inside a "movie" theatre before. Others confessed with equal candor that they never missed a night.

E. O. Essig, secretary of the state horticultural commission, met with the orange and lemon growers at the Co-Operative Fumigation Co.'s office this morning and although his report is a long one, the sum and substance of it is that the mealy bug found recently in this district is not the true citrus mealy bug, but a local variety which he states positively has been here a great many years, which should be treated the same as black scale is treated, with ordinary tents and a black scale dosage.

Thus does the mix-up in things horticultural become more complex than ever and the accusations and counter accusations filed with the supervisors Mondays, the 5th and 12th, are more complex than ever before. County Horticultural Commissioner Pease filed the following report of conditions here, on Monday the 5th:

A Report on the Pseudococcus Infection at Upland.

October 31st I went to Upland on telephone call, and to Twentieth street where my inspector had found a bad infestation of mealy bugs. Fumigators were near there, and were notified to fumigate infested trees with the intention of repeating the operation once a week for four weeks.

November 5th, J. C. Jones telephoned me to attend a meeting next day at Upland.

November 6th—Meeting at Upland, large attendance, and ways and means committee appointed of 11 from the different packing concerns. It was the sense of the meeting that the mealy bugs should be stamped out at any cost.

November 13th—I was at Upland and found leaves dropping quite badly after second fumigation, and still live mealy bugs showing on the trees. A meeting followed at the Upland Heights packing house. At this meeting there were present R. T. Nelson, R. O. Price, J. H. Payne, Mr. Paul L. R. Bradley and some others including J. F. Anderson, Mr. Scott, Chas. Motsinger and W. J. Stowe.

I advised that they select one tent and oil it it with raw linseed oil and stated that boiled oil would not do as it would be stiff adn liable to crack.

Mr. Scott was sent out immediately to select and oil a tent and I stipulated that dosage should not exceed 1 ounce schedule and two hours' exposure, as the oiled tent would hold all of the gas for any given time.

November 15th—I attended the meeting at Riverside experiment station and Upland people were there, one of whom asked Mr. Woglus when he was talking, what he knew about killing mealy bugs by fumigation, and he said he had used five pounds of cyanide with ordinary tent on an ordinary sized tree and nearly killed the tree, but found live mealy bugs crawling. Prof. Woodworth was there and I asked him about it and he said he had no trouble killing P citri under a glass cover in the laboratory with ordinary dosage in 30 minutes. As he is a specialist on tent leakage he went on to state that under an ordinary fumigating tent with any dosage the gas would depreciate 50 per cent in fifteen minutes.

This statement supported my idea of using the oiled tent to hold the density of gas equal through any length of exposure. I used one oiled tent at Bakersfield in fumigating for the white fly, and noticed that we got the best results with that tent. I had also noted that some insects were killed in a cyanide bottle in two minutes, while others required three hours and some even much longer time. Woglum has stated that most insects were killed in the first fifteen minutes of fumigation, and you will note what Woodworth said about leakage, hence my reason for longer gas exposure.

November 21st—In Upland. The first tent had dried under favorable weather and they had done first work with it, and not a live mealy bug has been found on those trees since, and Upland Heights association said they would order 30 new tents to oil.

November 26th—In Upland on telephone call to a meeting of delegation from the O. K. exchange, and they stated it was decided that the O. K. exchange would buy new tents. I had been asked at the meeting of the 21st about drying the oil tents. I told them with the raw oil they dried slowly, but could be hung up or spread on desert land. I also gave definite instructions about handling the tents, and also to try smaller dosages and tag and keep track of the trees.

From this time on my time was taken up with the examination, and the state convention and the school at Sacramento and the work was carried on by the Upland people, and good many trees were treated with the one tent with perfect success with the exception of one tree being injured on account or rain coming on.

December 16th—This was my next visit to Upland and we made an inspection of the trees fumigated several weeks before, and still not one live bug could be found.

There had been much delay in getting more trees and the first lot had been used at Mr. Woodbridge's the night previous, but we found no live bugs.

However, I noted that the tents were not dry and called Mr. Woodbridge's attention to it. He said the weather had not been good drying weather and said it was a case of urgency—or emergency—tents had been drying four or five days, and they must kill the pests. I told him oil was not good for the trees, and there was danger of damage.

December 19th—I was again in Upland, and found the tents in Mr. Nelson's lemon orchard—had fumigated 8 or 10 rows—and here I noted that they were using tents perfectly wet with oil—had not been dried at all.

I called Mr. Woodbridge's attention to the ground where tents had been pulled across and were wet with oil. He told me he thought they would do better work than with dry tents, and feared dry tents would crack. I told him that raw oiled tents would not crack—would be pliable. I further told him that there was danger of damage, and that it was not my idea at all to use wet tents.

I also told him that pulling tents over the ground took off the oil, also the trees would take off oil also, and that the oil was supposed to be dried into the tent and did not know but that the treatment might take off enough oil to unfit the tents for holding gas. But some of the tents had been used several days and damage had not shown up, and they kept on using them notwithstanding my protest. Mr. Anderson will bear me out in this and I am sure Mr. Woodbridge will not dispute it. A little later they stopped fumigating because the damage showed up.

December 29th—There was a meeting called to have Dr. Cook meet with us and he brought Wm. Wood. Dr. Cook advocated spraying and Mr. Wood took issue with him and said he had tried the Limoneira spray and other sprays but found he got better results from fumigation, etc.

After this I investigated further and found the oil had killed the grass under some of the trees, and am satisfied that oil was the cause of the dying of the dying leaves and of its being slow in showing.

The tents were taken back to the drying ground and had been turned each day and still were not dry, and I also noted that the oil was killing the grass under the tents.

It appeared to me that the people had been watching the work so long that they thought they knew more than I, as they paid no attention to what I said about danger, etc. Further, the work with the dry tent had been so perfect that they were perfectly satisfied with the one ounce schedule and two hours' exposure, and only one tree had been treated with 3-4 schedule and three hours' exposure, and one tree with 1 ounce schedule and 45 minutes' exposure. The former made a perfect killing, and with the latter one live bug was found.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) S. A. PEASE.

T. R. Woodbridge says regarding Mr. Pease's references to him:

"Mr. Pease did not see me or talk to me on Dec. 16. We did have a conversation on Dec. 19, but neither at that time nor during any of this fumigation work did Mr. Pease suggest to me that there was danger to either the trees or the fruit in the work being done under his orders. His chief anxiety seemed to be that the oil might be rubbed off and so make the tents too porous. Neither did he direct or suggest that the work be stopped."

On Monday the 12th President Laidlaw of the Co-Operative Fumigation Co. filed the following report and made one of the strongest speeches that has been given before the supervisors in many moons. What the outcome will be is hard to say, but a hearing will no doubt be held before the board of supervisors within a very short time.

CO-OPERATIVE FUMIGATION & SUPPLY COMPANY.—Presented by G. G. Laidlaw, President.

To the Board of Supervisors of San Bernardino County.

Gentlemen: Believing the report presented to your honorable body by Commissioner Pease on January 5th, is inadequate and biased, the Co-Operative Fumigation and Supply Company of Upland delegated me to present some of the facts to your honorable board from our viewpoint.

Upon representation by Commissioner Pease that the mealy bug could be eradicated without injury to fruit or trees by a program outlined to the growers by said Pease, consisting of oiled tents and two hours exposure. Quiet action was taken by the growers. Mr. Pease having intimated that we have until February 1st to clean up (active season against mealy bugs). We find by other authorities that he is in error. But this was the cause for haste. A growers committee of representative men were selected from the different associations and fruit shippers and ample funds guaranteed and finally by a committee appointed with power to act, composed of R. O. Price, W. J. Stowe and Earl W. Paul of Upland the work of eradication was committed to our company, the committee appearing before your board to state the case and to secure aid in purchasing tents. In this you saw fit to deny us, but agreed to have bills for work ordered by your commissioner paid weekly. Contracts were entered into by all the associations interested. Tents ordered and purchased incurred an expense to us of $4000.00. These tents were oiled as per Mr. Pease's instructions and on the 15th day of December field work, under the joint supervision of our manager, F. M. Scott, and District Inspector J. F. Anderson, was begun and prosecuted with due regard to weather conditions. Mr. Pease reports inspecting this work December 16th but was not seen or heard from by any of our men or officers. He says in his report to you that he told Mr. Woodbridge that oil was not good for the trees and there was danger of damage, all of which Mr. Woodbridge denies in toto.

December 19th Mr. Pease was in Upland and gave Mr. Woodbridge a lot more advice. He thought the tents were losing so much oil that they would not hold gas, etc. At that date our manager met Mr. Pease and the only criticism made to him was that "the tents might be dryer" but said nothing about discontinuing the work. Mr. Pease reports to you that in advice given to Mr. Woodbridge he said the tents would not hold gas owing to losing oil, it not having had sufficient time to dry in.

Gentlemen, at this point we ask, "Why was not our manager or secretary or one of the officers of our company notified about these strictures and warnings of your commissioner?

Absolutely from the time Mr. Pease gave his instructions which never included dry tents (which were impossible under December weather conditions) not one word of caution was tendered this company or any of its officers. On December 22nd complaint to me by Mr. Woodbridge that damage was beginning to appear in his grove, and I called a meeting of the directorate to go over the situation (owing to wet weather no fumigation was done on the 22nd). We went over the groves on the 23rd and unanimously voted to suspend operations and sent word to Messrs. Pease and Cook to that effect.

Gentlemen, if we had not stepped in on the work, as far as your commissioner is concerned, the work of devastation might have been going on yet.

December 29th we went over the ground with Messrs. Cook, Wood and Pease and held a meeting at which I requested Dr. Cook to place Mr. Essig in the field. Mr. Essig arrived today.

MASONS GIVE PUBLIC INSTALLATION

Impressive indeed was the installation program of the masonic lodge Monday night and to which invitations had been issued and those outside of the lodge circles could not help but be favorably impressed with the ceremony.

The event was in a way in remembrance of the passing from the master's chair of A. J. Hall who has just completed his term of office and to show appreciation for the work Mr. Hall has done while acting in that capacity the lodge presented him with a beautiful past master's jewel on which appeared his name and set in the center with a moonstone, the presentation speech being made by George P. Smith, who said in part:

"Brother Hall, as you have installed the officers of this lodge this evening and are no longer permitted to wear a jewel as an officer of this lodge only by request, allow me to present to you as a small token of our esteem, this jewel of your office. May you wear it with pleasure to yourself and honor to the fraternity. I congratulate you upon your becoming a past master; retain, we entreat you, that goodness of heart, that purity of intention and that love of virtue of which we think you are possessed, and of which this spotless vestment wherewith you are are now girded is at once the emblem, the badge and the reward, for he who wears the lamb skin as the badge of a Mason should continually be reminded of that purity of life and conduct to essentially necessary to his gaining admission into that celestial lodge above, where the Supreme Grand Master forever presides.

A. J. Hall acted as installing officer of the evening and he was assisted by G. W. Hursey, master of ceremonies.

Following the installation of officers refreshments of Welch's grape juice ice and Nabisco wafers were served by C. W. Churchill, the well-known caterer, and after a half hour of visiting those desiring tripped the light fantastic to music graciously supplied by J. L. Grahame.

The most entertaining event of the evening in the estimation of many was the singing of C. Adeline Hill-Thompson who rendered in a rich soprano voice a "Serenade," and after a most hearty applause responded with "My Rosary."

Among those attending the event were:

O. A. Helner, O. Rombaugh, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bowman, J. B. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Granger, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mumper, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. ORANGE GROVES SELLING

There is something doing in Upland, and when we say this we mean it, for the danger season of a possible frost having passed and with continued rainy weather showing up on the horizon, men of business are preparing to do things, and this week not only sees the packing houses in operation but the orange groves are beginning to be in demand by moneyed men who are looking for an investment in Southern California income property.

The latter part of last week a deal was closed by which E. B. Clark sold seven acres of Washington navels, located at the corner of Euclid avenue and Eleventh street, to Mrs. Campbell of Hollywood, the consideration being $21,000.

This grove is part of the former Dundas groves and ranks among the best in the colony.

Another important deal which was closed this week is the sale of the Charles D. Adams place on San Antonio Heights, consisting of ten acres of young grove, and the beautiful Adams residence to George B. Harrison of Kansas City Mo., Mr Harrison having been formerly cashier of the New England bank of that city. In July Mr. Harrison and family will move here and Mr. Harrison plans on improving the place and making it one of the most attractive spots in the entire colony. This deal was negotiated by J. D. Howe of the Howe-Stowe Realty Co.

Last week N. G. Pehl sold the J. H. Knapp place on Eighteenth street, consisting of ten acres of oranges and lemons, to Ralph Lynde, formerly of Ellendale, North Dakota, and by these three deals it can be readily seen that the confidence of men in Southern California holdings is coming back to its own, and this year of 1914 will be one of the best the state, especially the southern part of it, has known in many years.

WEEKLY SOCIALIST MEETINGS

"Why Is There a Socialist Movement?" was the subject of an interesting and well-attended address delivered last Monday evening in the Upland grammar school auditorium by Job Harriman of Los Angeles. Mr. Harriman's lecture was the first of a series which is to be held at the grammar school every Monday evening under the auspices of the local Socialists, who have secured the weekly use of the auditorium under the terms of the new state law making public schoolhouses civic centers for the discussion of political, economic and other questions. The next address of the series will be delivered next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when N. A. Richardson of San Bernardino is scheduled to speak on "How Socialism Will Be Established."

Admission to all the lectures is free, and all are cordially invited.

IN CRIMINAL COURT

John Morelli admitted to the court that he had hit a fellow countryman and wood chopper over the head with an ax at Colton and was allowed to plead guilty to simple assault, and took 90 days.

Jack Brennan, charged with attempting to assault a woman at Del Rosa, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for January 20 in department two.

Guy Webster, whom Judge B. F. Bledsoe declined to allow to plead guilty because he qualified his plea with a statement that if true does not indicate he is guilty of stealing a horse, will be tried March 5. Webster rented a horse from a San Bernardino stable and never returned it.

R. F. LEMON NAMED CASHIER OF COMMERCIAL-NATION'L

Owing to the fact that increase of business demanded that the Commercial National bank have among its officers another man of banking experience who could devote his time to the carrying on of the affairs of the bank R. F. Lemon, a banker of experience has been selected as that man, and he will take up his active duties today as cashier, while both Mr. Palmer and Mr. Norton will step up into the official circles of the institution, Mr. Palmer being the president, Mr. Norton vice-president and, together with Mr. Lemon, will be the actively engaged heads of the institution.

Mr. Lemon comes to Upland practically a stranger and although he and his family have been making their temporary home at the corner of Second avenue and G street for several weeks, it was not generally known that Mr. Lemon was to enter the Commercial National bank and in what capacity until the annual meeting which was held on Tuesday the 13th. At the meeting of stockholders it was decided that Mr. Lemon should be the cashier, he having purchased a large block of stock of the institution and being a man of many years' experience in the banking business in Michigan, which Mr. Palmer was made president and R. C. Norton, who has been assistant cashier in the bank for several years, will not only be its second vice-president and actively engaged in the bank, but will be cashier of the Citizens Savings bank as well. Mr. Palmer, through the addition of Mr. Lemon to the working force will be relieved from the arduous duties of the bank, and for a time will take life a little easier, but in a few weeks will be found at his desk as usual.

Mr. Lemon, the new cashier of the bank, comes to Upland from Harbor Springs, Mich., where he was cashier of the Emmett County State bank of that city. For nine years he held this position and finally resigned because of his appointment to the position of postmaster in his home city and he retained that position until he came to Upland to make his home. Not only was Mr. Lemon in the banking business ar Harbor Springs but also at Lansing, Mich, the state capital, and he comes to Upland equipped with a banking experience which will mean much to the bank of which he has just been made cashier. For the present Mr. Lemon and his estimable family, consisting of his wife, two daughters and one son, will reside in the residence of Judge Crane at the corner of G street and second avenue, but in a short time a new home will be planned and built.

The annual meeting of the Commercial National bank was held on Tuesday of this week and as a result of that meeting the following officers and directors were named: M. F. Palmer, president; W. T. Leeke, vice-president; R. C. Norton, second vice-president; R. F. Lemon, cashier; Harold C. Moore, assistant cashier; Miss Eva Gerry and C. E. Grier, accountants; Miss Ismay Chadwick, stenographer.

The directorate of the bank has been increased to seven from five and is as follows: Earl W. Paul, R. C. Norton, W. T. Leeke, Paul H. Harwood, A. P. Harwood, R. F. Lemon and M. F. Palmer.

M. F. Palmer, who since the reorganization of the bank, has been its cashier, is to take life with less strenuosity in it from now on, although he will keep in touch with affairs of the bank as its president. The directors of the band thoroughly appreciate Mr. Palmer's efforts in behalf of the institution and not only named him president but insisted that he be relieved of some of the responsibility and together with R. C. Norton, who has been with the bank for several years, and Mr. Lemon, the cashier, they will make up the working heads of the institution.

Citizens Savings Annual Meeting

The Citizens Savings bank also held its annual meeting Tuesday and as a result of that meeting the following officers and directors were named: M. F. Palmer, president; W. T. Leeke, vice-president; R. C. Norton, cashier; Eva M. Gerry, assistant cashier. The directors are M. F. Palmer, W. T. Leeke, A. P. Harwood, E. T. Jordon, Paul H. Harwood, M. H. Bordwell, F. L. Purvis.

The savings bank has enjoyed a most prosperous year with a good dividend paid to the stockholders and the coming year promises to be one of the most successful in its history.

FORMER DIRECTORS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the First National bank was held on Tuesday when the stockholders elected the following board of directors: Isaac C. Baxter, A. E. Huntington, George Chaffey, C. T. McCulloch, D. E. Dobbins. The officers of the bank are to be named at the regular monthly meeting held next week and it is likely that there will be no change in the official heads of the institution. The directors expressed their desire to work in co-operation with the new currency law and were ready to affiliate with the federal reserve banks.

E. P. FULLER, PRESIDENT

The Citizens Land & Water company held its annual meeting this week and as a result of that meeting E. P. Fuller is now president of the company while Chas. Ruedy is vice-president and C. P. Fuller secretary and treasurer. A. P. Harwood and E. C. Harwood were also elected as members of the directorate and the company anticipates a most prosperous year in 1914.

THE SUPERIOR COURT PROCEEDINGS AT SAN BERNARDINO

For two years Robert C. Allen never saw the interior of the room of his wife, Paula E. Allen, he declared to Judge F. F. Oster on the witness stand in his divorce action Tuesday. They formerly lived at Cairo, Mich. Allen declared he thought the actions of his wife in barring and locking her door in his face amounted to desertion. The court agreed with him and he took his decree.

Parents of Six Divorced

Twenty-three years of married life was enough for Hattie R. Jones, according to P. F. Jones' testimony before Judge F. F. Oster Tuesday. Jones told the court his wife deserted him, moving to Long Beach, and Mrs. Jones, who had been served with a summons in the action, appeared perfectly willing that Jones should get his decree, because she was not represented in court. Attorney R. E. Bledsoe represented Jones and Judge Oster granted the decree. They reared six children.

Joined Navy: Goodbye

Irene Spifflet said her husband didn't worry when there was not enough money to buy food for two, and that he joined the navy, wrote he would come home some day, but never did. Edmond P. Squiffiet was not represented. R. E. Hedge appeared for Mrs. Squiffiet.

Deserted Wife and Baby

Mrs. Lizzie Calderon of Colton sobbed as she took the stand to testify in her action for divorce against Alvin Calderon, who, she said, deserted her and their infant child. Attorney M. O. Mert represented her and she took a decree.

One Decree Denied

The court, however, frowned on the action of Ethel Ruth Marx against Paul C. Marx, because it developed both parties reside in Los Angeles county. Judge Oster told her he had enough domestic worries in the jurisdiction of his own court to worry about. She will have to bring suit in Los Angeles.

A new system for the examination of the affairs of the county by the grand jury was outlined Tuesday by Foreman W. M. Bristol, when the inquisitorial body met in its first session since the organization in December.

Declaring that in his belief the old system of the appointment of committees for the examination of the various offices could be improved upon, Mr. Bristol called for volunteers for a committee of men who were experienced to some extent in accounting. The boby agreed with Mr. Bristol that a committee of accountants could check the books of the county officers more intelligently than committees which knew nothing of bookkeeping. Lyman M. King, chairman; E. M. Cope, O. G. Suess, J. C. Boyd, J. H. McGarvey, and David Grossman were named by Mr. Bristol as the accounting committee, with power to employ an expert, for the examination of the accounts of the various offices, and no additional committees will be named.

During the afternoon the grand jurors visited the county hospital, and then adjourned at the call of the foreman. It is probable that there will be no further sessions until March, and by that time the accounting committee will have completed its work.

The first prosecution under the amended county winery ordinance, prohibiting the sale of wine in less than wholesale quantities, opened Wednesday.

J. B. Lafourcade is charged in four complaints of having sold wine in retail quanties. The trial was before a jury in the Elwanda justice court yesterday. Deputy District Attorney R. M. McHargue will prosecute the cases.

The Bosch and Crabtree wineries in the Cucamonga district are also charged with the same offense on four different complaints each.

The cases against Bosch and Crabtree have not been set for trial.

The winery men are exhibiting much interest in the outcome of the initial case. The new ordinance broke up a profitable business, it is declared, that communities in the west end of the county have been fighting for years.

Seeks Divorce

Mabel A. Satchell filed suit for divorce against Floyd O. Satchell. Attorney H. T. Dewhirst of Redlands filed the action.

After New Trial

Bertha Rudell has filed the notice of the intention to move for a new trial against W. T. Collins. The action is over a tax deed, the plaintiff holding the document and bringing action to quiet title. The court held the tax deed was invalid.

Fred Day and Henry Carter, charged with burglary for robbing a Santa Fe box car at Barstow two weeks ago, pleaded guilty Tuesday before Judge Oster and were sentenced to one year each at San Quentin. Attorney Walter Hartzel represented the prisoners and Deputy District Attorney Frank T. Bates the state.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 15, 1914

THE PEOPLE of the city are off on the wrong foot, for we note that they are pronouncing wig wag with a decided wag on the last word, or rather a flat "a." City Attorney Swing is an authority on this subject, of no mean ability, and he pronounces it "wig wog." Kindly take note of this and remain stayed as put.

IN the adjoining column, our co-worker, O. U. Hash, gives a vivid description of night on the mountain tops beneath the stars with only the sky above as a canopy, and we are reminded of those dear old days, long since gone by, when after reading in our fourth reader a story of the pleasure of sleeping on the ground with nothing for a pillow but a stone, we tried it. When morning came we were glad to get back to that dear old feather-bed—but, by the way, several months ago we wrote a long epistle on the luxury of that dear old feather-bed of our youthful days only to be informed by our mother that she never had a feather-bed in her house. More sentiment gone glimmering.

THE SANTA FE, which has an alarm bell at Euclid avenue, is getting unpopular with the people, and some of these nights when that bell starts in on its continuous ringing, with trains many miles from that point, an irate resident in that section of the city will no doubt go to that bell with a strong ax in hand and the result will be bad for that bell. Santa Fe officials should see to it that the bell operates at the right time and not all the time, for numerous residents in that section are moving into the country to be rid of the incessant "tintinnabulations of the bells, bells, bells, keeping time, time, time, in a sort of runic rhyme."

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE held its annual meeting Monday night and during the next year E. W. Paul will act as its president, while L. N. Kirk will be secretary. With these men to pilot the organization through the coming year, the chamber of commerce should accomplish much. E. B. Reynolds, who has been the efficient secretary for several years, should receive the hearty thanks of the people of the city of Upland for the effort he has put forth in behalf of the city. A chamber of commerce of any town must be made a success simply through the loyal citizens of that town putting forth some effort in behalf of the chamber of commerce which will redound to the good of the community in which he lives. As Superintendent of Streets Froehde says in his report to the city council, the city has gone further to the front during the incumbency of the present members of the council than under any other body of men, and the councilmen state that the chamber of commerce has been one of the greatest factors in assisting them in their work. Therefore, it is up to the citizens of this town as to what the chamber of commerce does for the town in the next year. President Paul has consented to take the presidency for one more year, and that he has put in a lot of valuable time and continued effort in behalf of this town no one will gainsay. Now if you, Mr. Business Man, cannot find time to attend chamber of commerce meetings and will not even join the chamber and pay the yearly dues of $3, have you any possible excuse for making the statement that the chamber of commerce never did anything for the city? This statement has no doubt been made by many, as every chamber of commerce in every small town receives just such criticism, by men who refuse to give of their time, money or energy to assist in making the chamber of commerce do still greater things for the town in which it exists. Men of Upland, it's up to us, and the only way to have something turn up for the good of the town is to get out and turn it up, with every loyal citizen assisting in said turning.

BECAUSE three of the supervisors of San Bernardino county decided that the notice calling the special election on the road bond issue should be published in the Upland News, it has behooved the Colton Courier to state that The News' circulation is poor. We feel a great deal like the newspaper owner who was taken ill and heard the physician say, "His circulation is poor." In reply the newspaper man shouted, "You're a liar. Our circulation was never better." The San Bernardino Sun states in an editorial regarding the awarding of this advertising to The Upland News, which saved the county in the neighborhood of $750, and which ordinarily would have gone to the San Bernardino Sun, "Various gangrened journals look with longing upon that business." It was not with any idea of jealousy that The News asked for this work, but simply a matter of clean competition. There was no price cutting but simply a case of whether the board of supervisors wanted to save the county some $750. The Sun man, following the raise of legal advertising rates by the supervisors, immediately agreed to do for $100 what he should receive some $1100 a year for, his understanding being that the entire business from the the supervisors should go to The Sun. Business never was a success on an understanding, and although there has been more or less criticism of the supervisors regarding printing and publishing rates, The News man sees it in an entirely different light, and rather than the supervisors being at fault, the managers of newspapers in this county have conducted their business along such lines that the supervisors are between the devil and the deep blue sea. For instance: Last year The Index offered to do the county printing at 9 cents per square, The Sun taking it at that figure, which on the face of it is a farce and a throat-cutting idea, which makes a farce of the publishing business. This year The Sun wanted 50c per square, the supervisors finally setting the price at 20c, and immediately The Sun offered to do a $1100 job for $100, on the understanding that all county advertising handled by the board of supervisors go to that publication. If this sigood business we fail to see it, and the sooner newspaper owners and managers wake up and conduct their business along different lines, just so soon will the craft have the respect of the buying public.

Evidently all the hard luck did not pass out with 1913. The little old bill collector appears to be unusually present this glad new January.

A LITTLE OF THIS AND THAT

By O. U. HASH

"A Thing of Beauty," etc.—The severe architectural outlines of the street-car waiting station south of the Santa Fe crossing have been delicately toned by the artistic draping of cut-plug advertisements around the Ionic columns flanking the massive main entrance.

More Eugenics—Dorgan: "Oi say, Grogan, an' who is this lad Eugene Hicks they are talkin' av inthroducin' to th' schools?"
Dorgan: "Well, I should blush to tell ye. All I kin say is, if they have to kape it in th' schools, I hope they'll have th' dilicacy not to mention it before the byes and gurls."

California Mother Goose—

Jack Spry could not vote "dry,"
His wife could not vote "wet;"
And (you know how such things go)
They're probably arguing yet!

Why Not?—Some one has suggested that the abbreviation for California be written "Cfa." instead of "Cal.," in order to more readily distinguish it from "Col.," one of the abbreviations of Colorado. Why not write it (for our part of California) "S. Cal.," and be done with it. State division is only a matter of time anyway. As usual, sentiment will have to bow to business.

All About It—"Yes, sir," said one of the colony's oldest inhabitants, as he stood by the Junction waiting room along the avenue and watched the electric cars shooting past, "there is no doubt about it, sir; it is surely a big jump from our first mule-drawn street cars to the speedy electric coaches of to-day. But the first cars were thought to be about the last limit in transportation when they arrived, and the original stunt of the mules riding down behind the car made one of the most unique advertisements that ever went out of Southern California, sir. But fast as the electric cars are to-day, it is very doubtful if they will ever touch the "track record" made by one of those mule-drawn cars on the run from the Mesa to Ontario the day the robber threw the cashier of the State Bank into the vault and robbed that institution of several thousand dollars. The man who held the combination to the vault was on the mesa that day, and when the car came up he was told the circumstances and requested to get a little busy if he wished to see the cashier alive. They said he made the run down in six minutes. Of course, you've heard the story? No? You haven't heard it! Well, it isn't much, but it might amuse you for half an hour, sir. I was sittin' in Jones' Pioneer Store talking that day, sir, when—Oh, you have heard the story, you say. All right, sir! Good day, sir!"

Sawed-Off Observations—

Happy is the man, these days, who has a flock of hens batting over the 300 mark.

Willie's Christmas drum, Mary's sawdust-lined doll, mama's "Don't Worry" resolution and poor father's pocketbook are all badly "busted" at this writing.

Yes, my son, we have the allopath, the homoepath, the osteopath and the naturopath; but the straight and narrow path has them all beaten smooth when you're looking for the royal highway to good health.

If possible, we should never despise humble beginnings. Please observe the exalted position on the bill of fare held by the erstwhile plebeian "ham and—."

Under the Stars—The close of a glorious day the early part of last week found us, with our trusty dog and gun, near the head of the "Big Slide" on the southwest side of Cucamonga Peak. As "the shades of night were falling fast" and we were pretty tired from a day's ramble over the rough country roundabout, we resolved to spend the night in the open rather than attempt the twelve-mile walk that separated us from our humble cot in town. After picking out a cozy spot beside a friendly boulder and cutting an armful of fir boughs for a bed, we shared our sandwich with Rover, rustled up a fire and lay down by the cheerful blaze for a welcome smoke and rest. Although in January, the night was warm, even at this altitude of over 6,000 feet. In the bustle of preparation for our night's lodging we had given no particular thought to the appearance of the heavens, but comfortably reclining on the fragrant fir couch and gazing intently at the sky our eyes were held captive by the transcendent beauty of the flawless California night. No trace of cloud was to be seen on all the starry expanse, while the seeming proximity of the low-hanging stars caused them to throb and burn with spectral splendor. At the north—"the one in all that doth hold his place"—shone Polaris, the ever faithful Pole Star. The Great Bear lay toward the northeast, its chief star, Vega, scintillating brilliantly, while farther on in the same direction was the fine cross of Cygnus. Due west swung the constellation Pegasus. Algol, the demon star, was lying due southwest. In the south lay Eridanus and above were the Pleiades and Aldeboran. The magnificent constellation of Orion burned in the southeast; in the west were the twin stars, Castor and Pollux, while above them, outshining all except Sirius (in the southeast), blazed the great Capella. And as if all this grand display were not enough for one evening, along came fair Luna, Queen of the Night, showering her silvery light on the dark old earth and making a fitting climax to a scene of matchless beauty.

The pure food law has proven that if fruits, jellies, preserves, etc., are sound when bottled they will keep that way without adding injurious coloring and preserving matter. It's only a matter of choice here anyway, as only the best Jams, Jellies, Mixed and Plain Pickes and Relishes, Stuffed and Plain Olives, Catsups and Sauces are for sale in this store.

Optimism

The Keynote For 1914

¶ The year 1913 had its disappointments for many, yet productions throughout the United States were the greatest in history.

¶ Personal and local misfortunes too often blind one from seeing the prosperity of others.

¶ The tariff and currency questions, also other important issues, are being adjusted by men sincere in their determination to benefit the whole people, and conditions are already improving.

¶ Let us not forget that ours is a nation of progress. We are moving forward.

¶ Now then, with a long pull, and a strong pull, and a pull altogether, let us go into the New Year resolved to make the very best use of opportunities, and never to be discouraged by anything.

Less Bowel Trouble In Upland

Upland people have found out that A SINGLE DOSE of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the German bowel and stomach remedy, relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach INSTANTLY. This simple mixture became famous by curing appendicitis and it draws off a surprising amount of old foul matter from the body. It is wonderful how QUICKLY it helps. Mac the Medicine Man.

Muscular Christianity found an exponent in the curate of a northern diocese of whom James Bryce tells in his "Stuies in Contemporary Biography." He "had once, under the greatest provocation, knocked down a person who had insulted him, and the bishop wrote him a letter of reproof, pointing out among other things that, exposed as the Church of England was to much criticism on all hands, her ministers ought to be very careful in their demeanor. The offender replied by saying, 'I must regret that being grossly insulted, and forgetting in the heat of the moment the critical poaition of the Church of England, I did knock the man down.'" The bishop—it was Fraser of Manchester—retaliated by asking the curate to dinner.

A scripture lesson was read and a short prayer offered, after which reports from the secretary, Mrs. Nisbet, and treasurer, Mrs. Westland, were accepted. A vocal solo by Miss Tubbs was most heartily enjoyed. The main business of the afternoon was election of officers. A nominating committee was appointed who presented the name of Mrs. Paul as president, Mrs. Barlow as vice-president, Mrs. Nisbet as secretary, and Mrs. Ella Westland as treasurer; all of whom succeed themselves as officers. Doughnuts and coffee were served by the committee, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Wisely, Mrs. Landis, Mrs. Wimpress and Miss Watson.

Club Notes—

By vote of the Woman's club last Friday the program was first. As Mrs. George Swan was chairman the topic for the afternoon, "Legislation," was put immediately in her hands and a splendid address was given by Mrs. Swan on that subject. Among things said by Mrs. Swan were these: That laws were ground out at Sacramento by medieval, cumbersome machinery—that no business man would put up with things at home as they are there. She said a state training school for girls is to be established not far from Ventura, where 160 acres had been purchased. $200,000 is to be put in buildings. The community property law was explained and a way to improve it was suggested. Also that a weights and measure bill must be passed at next legislature. Mrs. Swan thought that the club members should not only register themselves but see that their neighbors did likewise. A goodly proportion of women have registered and a larger percentage of women voted than men. In regard to undesirable women, a very few registered and fewer voted. No man lives unto himself, she said, nor woman and that no great thing was accomplished without some sacrifice. In regard to the red light abatement law, these undesirable women had to be sacrificed for our splendid army of boys and girls. That they were doomed anyway, for the life they lead shortens their lives.

Mrs. Swan said the Woman's club should show interest in council meetings and show appreciation of work done. That we must have women in the senate and house of representatives next year; that there were bills to be passed that only a woman could speak upon. She said we would probably have to send some women who would not want to go for really no woman would want to go. The address was followed by a piano solo by Miss Persons. After roll call and reading of the minutes reports were heard from the different committees. The "flower show" committee, Mrs. Allen, chairman, reported that a flower show would be held the latter part of October or the first of November for all flowers in bloom at that time. Also that a "Better Baby" contest would be held in connection.

In order to have the best results with crysanthemums the suckers should be planted in sand as soon as they shoot up and then transplanted in March or April. Prizes are to be awarded for the most perfect blossom, most perfect foliage, largest variety of chrysanthemums. Prizes will be given for most perfect rose and largest variety grown by one person. Experienced judges will be chosen.

The Literary section will meet at the home of Mrs. H. C. Kennedy on Monday night at 7:30. "Education" will be the topic for Reciprocity day, Jan. 23, when the presidents of surrounding clubs and chairmen of education will be guests of the Woman's club at a 12 o'clock luncheon at the club rooms, with the program commencing at 1:30. Program will be printed in full in next week's paper.

ment of his fight against the bosses—all these were voiced in the applause and keen interest that followed the story in pictures.

Applause began with Judge Lindsay's first appearance in the story. It came again when he appeared in a street corner campaign speech, surrounded by his friends, the boys, performing real, effective campaign work with banners, "Down Wid the Bosses."

"Outside the theatre, with gaudy posters as a background, the manager of the theatre had pasted several copies of the North American editorial, "Will You Let This Man Fight Alone?"—the call that had resulted in Judge Lindsay's friends coming to his rescue in his fight on special privilege.

"There's more to the story, of course. You might want to hear how the "little judge" sends the boy to an industrial school, how he leaves there for a responsible place in a bank, but from here on the motion pictrue drama follows just the course that you would expect it to follow. Details of the reformation are exceedingly unimportant beside the method."

A REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS IS ACCEPTED

Election Is Called for February 17, 1914—$1,750,000 to Be Asked of Voters.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, San Bernardino County.

Gentlemen:—We, the highway commission, appointed by your honorable board for the purpose of submitting to you a system of highways to be improved under a bond issue, the character and type of such improvement and an estimate of the cost thereof, after careful and mature deliberation, beg to report as follows:

Immediately after our organization, in order that we might proceed with our preliminary work in the best and most practical manner, we arranged for meetings with the Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside county and the state highway commission. After a most cordial and profitable conference with each of these commissions, we concluded that the only way to find out just where to locate the highways to best serve the people of our county, was to visit each community and learn their desire in the matter.

With this idea in mind we have visited every city and important community in the county and after most careful and painstaking consideration, submit for your consideration and approval the following highways to be improved under an estimated bond issue to the amount of $1,750,000 and recommend that the same be submitted to a vote of the people on Tuesday, February 17, 1914.

We also submit herewith a description of the roads and a map showing the proposed highways:

Rights to Be Obtained

In a few cases in the above list of roads, there are rights-of-way to be obtained, and the commission requires that such rights-of-way must be secured by the communities interested in these roads without expense to the commission.

We estimate the average cost of our roads in the valley portion of the county will be about $10,000 per mile, including the necessary bridges, none of which are large or expensive, but should be of a permanent nature. We are favorably situated, topographically, having no rough country to build through, and having our supplies of rock, gravel and cement close at hand. The experience of the state and adjoining counties in their present road work leads us to believe the above figure is a reasonable estimate of cost.

We have asked the cement manufacturers for figures on cement, and have their written guarantee of a very favorable price for the quantity that we are likely to use.

The desert's share of this bond issue is $125,000, and the commission recommends that this amount be spent between the summit and the state line near Needles, and that an additional $125,000 be appropriated for the road between San Bernardino and the summit. If the supervisor of this district will build the bridges and assist the commission in doing the grading, a paved road will be built all the way to summit from the San Bernardino city limits.

Between the summit and the Colorado river the distance is so great that the money available must be spent at the points where it will make the most permanent improvement; this will give a satisfactory road to accommodate the amount of travel which this road will have.

We recommend that the supervisors open Riverside avenue from Colton avenue to the Riverside county line, about 3.3 miles.

In the adoption of the above system of highways, the commission has endeavored to select, in addition to the main thoroughfares connecting with the principal cities and centers of population of the county, laterals which will connect with these main thoroughfares, the state highway and the main highways of adjoining counties, thereby affording the farming communities the best possible means of marketing their products and in a general way to aid in the development of the county as a whole.

It may appear that the commission has incorporated unnecessary highways, thereby increasing the cost without adequate return, but when it is taken into consideration that the highways are being built for the future development and growth of the entire county, and that another bond issue of this character will not be promulgated for many years to come, the reason for including such roads herein shown becomes obvious, and, further, with the increased population occasioned by good roads, it means correspondingly an increase of assessed valuations. It would be manifestly unfair not to include all portions of the county that admit of further development.

Concrete Recommended

After a most careful investigation of the different types of permanent road construction, we have no hesitancy in recommending concrete, under practically the state highway specifications, or some other equally as good or better type of road construction. Our estimate as to the cost of the roads provided herein are based upon a five-inch minimum or even a thicker base, if soil conditions require, and we purpose using this thickness of base in all bases save in those exceptional instances, where from the nature of the underlying formation a four-inch base will prove durable and sufficient. Also in some instances we favor employing the macadam or field boulder construction where available materials and conditions will justify. We would recommend that the commission be given reasonable latitude in the type and construction of these highways, for on account of the rapid development of the auto truck, freight traffic will reach tremendous proportions just as soon as we have a permanent system of highways constructed in the county.

There will be established many lines of auto trucks which will load all kinds of merchandise at the coast and transport the same directly to the country merchants' door, and the truck will reload with hay and other farm products right at the ranch, for Los Angeles and other large centers of commerce. They will also load with oranges, lemons and all sorts of products for transportation direct to the harbors for eastern shipment, all of which inures greatly to the benefit of the farming communities.

We would recommend that the supervisors regulate by ordinance the load of all vehicles on the county highways, in proportion to the width of tire, also the throwing of glass or other injurious matter on the roadways.

Five years ago this county gave a popular majority of 1,299 votes in favor of a $625,000 bond issue but lacked 425 votes to insure the requisite two-thirds. The cause of the defeat of the bonds was chargeable to no specific cause but a combination of circumstances; first, a prejudice against the automobile; second, lack of confidence in the methods of road building at that time, relative to permanency and durability; third, that the proposed work would be let by contract and cheap labor imported to the exclusion of our own citizens.

These and kindred objections were offered by those inimical to the good roads proposition. One of the strongest arguments urged against the former bond issue was, that the county was not sufficiently represented in the distribution of the good roads system. The latter objection was perhaps the most potent offered against the bonds, but with a limitation of $625,000 it was impossible to cover the county thoroughly and completely.

Big Change in Five Years

But a great change has been wrought in the past five years regarding the value and necessity of good roads. San Bernardino county citizens were among the original pioneers in this movement and while they failed by a small margin, the sentiment has greatly grown, not only throughout this county and state but in every county and state in the United States, and today it is one of the paramount issues, not only in our own country, but in all civilization. The value and effectiveness of a good road system is no longer problematical.

Your commission has, to its utmost ability, diligently and conscientiously prosecuted the work of preparing a broad and comprehensive system of highways, especially adapted to the requirements of our imperial county, an undertaking which at first was looked upon with a considerable degree of awe and apprehension.

When we reflect, that the main trunk line extends approximately 300 miles from the Colorado river across the desert, or mesa, and over the mountains to its connection with the Los Angeles county highway system, thence to the sea, together with the two other trunk lines running east and west, with the various ramifications, laterals and diagonal highways, something of the prodigious character of the work can be realized, if not fully appreciated.

The commission has in no instance acted arbitrarily in the selection of highways, but left the matter entirely to the citizens of each respective locality. While the citizenry of our county is engaged in various pursuits and differ in many respects as to the proper methods of conducting the same, by virtue of a variety of climate and soil incidental to so large an area, yet it is a notable fact that all citizens concur with a remarkable degree of unanimity, as to the benefit derived from a good system of highways, if built for durability and permanence.

Under $1,750,000 Bond Issue

The commission has granted all roads that could be consistently given under a bond issue of $1,750,000, and if a surplus remains, after the roads are built as outlined, attention will be given to such roads as the commission could have incorporated in the list submitted, if the financial limit had not been reached. Approximately 406 miles of good roads will be built, if the bonds carry; 146 miles in the valley and from San Bernardino to the Colorado river about 260 miles.

Every effort has been made to give a fair and equitable distribution of the highways and the citizens themselves, in their respective communities, have made their own selections, which materially assisted and rendered incalculable aid in the preparation of what the commission hopes will appeal to the taxpayers and citizens generally, as a broad gauge and comprehensive system of highways.

It should be the desire of our citizens to have equally as good, if not better, roads than our neighboring counties, and it is opportune to effect that result, as San Diego, Kern, Orange, Los Angeles and Riverside counties have already voted bonds for a good roads system.

The commission has endeavored to complete its work without prejudice to any community, having in mind at all times the greatest good to the public and a fair and impartial distribution of a road system that will not only now, but in the years to follow, prove worthy of the confidence of the people, in that, long after the bonds mature the roads will continue in good condition at a minimum cost of upkeep, and with the further hope that no mistake will be made if ratified at the polls on election day.

Respectfully submitted,

J. B. GILL,
Chairman.

W. A. FREEMIRE.

J. J. PRENDERGAST,
Secretary.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proporietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

"YESTERDAY, AND TODAY, AND FOREVER."

Without any disparagement of the good things directly within their own sphere of action, and the multitudinous efforts for social betterment which the churches find themselves called upon to advocate from their pulpits, we quote as follows from an editorial which appeared recently in the Kennebec Journal of Augusta, Maine:

"The third Sunday in December is urged upon pastors, Sunday schools, young people's societies, and all other religious societies as "peace" Sunday.

"It almost seems that every Sunday will be a "something" Sunday, by and by. If churches and religious societies will consider what Jesus Christ's platform was, they will find themselves standing for peace, clean living which prevents disease, and for every other good thing which modern advertisers are likely to attribute to their own perception and profound study. The practical study of what Jesus Christ taught, nearly two thousand years ago, will give new ideas on "peace" policy, arbitration, and resistance of microbes.

Let's have a genuine Jesus Christ Sunday, and invite all in to hear something new and remarkable from ancient annals of peace, good will, arbitration, human love, and human cleanliness that is divine."

This editorial puts its title in the form of a very significant question, "Why not a Jesus Christ Sunday?" From this we infer that the writer of it was of the opinion that it is the business of the churches to present any and every question which they may discuss, from the standpoint of the teachings of Christ Jesus. This certainly seems to be the proper viewpoint for every Christian on every public question. Take, for instance, the question of peace. What more need be said on this subject than the words of Christ Jesus in his Sermon on the Mount? Is not the golden rule the foundation for universal peace? Is not the love of neighbor for neighbor, in its universal application, the beginning and the ultimate of world peace? And do we not find that every virtue and every kindly deed is in accord with the teachings of our great Master, because he taught the omnipotence of good and the omnipresence of Love?

All these things would be prominent in what the Journal refers to as "a Jesus Christ Sunday," but there is one thing which would have to be more prominent than any other in the observance of such a Sunday, else the title would be more or less of a misnomer. We refer to what Mrs. Eddy has spoken of as the "lost element of healing" (Church Manual, p. 17), the power to heal that was lost only because it was not given its rightful place in Christian ministry from the third century to the nineteenth, when Mrs. Eddy again made it the test of an understanding of the Master's teachings. An equally potent reason for the temporary submergence of this healing power was because it was decried as an ungodly presumption on the part of those who desired to give literal obedience to Jesus' command to heal the sick.

The vital fact in the teaching of Christian Science is the ever-presence of the Christ; as Paul expresses it in his epistle to the Hebrews, "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever." Then that phase of the ministry of Christ Jesus to which so much attention is given in the gospels, that of the healing of the wounds and bruises of suffering and sorrowing humanity, cannot consistently be ignored by his professed followers today, nor is there any other phase which more definitely shows the atone-ment of Father and Son.

"A Jesus Christ Sunday" in the churches would be one in which all the gospel of Christ Jesus would be preached and demonstrated, and if the churches are not having fifty-two such Sundays each year, then there is something wrong. Our Master said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you;" and if this injuction was universally obeyed, there would be no need of special Sundays in the churches. Neither would there be complaint about lack of attendance at church services, for the churches would be bringing in the millenium and demonstrating the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, that understanding of God as the infinite Father which obedience to the supreme commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," inculcates.—Archibald McLean, in Christian Science Sentinel.

DOSE FOR WRONG BUG

Gentlemen, we submit that those tents held the gas too well, without leakage, and that neither trees or fruit would stand such density or temperature for two hours. Such damage did not show up under the old tent oiled for experimental work because it was covered with patches which kept peeling off and thus the gas was more or less distributed.

Gentlemen, we charge that Mr. Pease ordered the work, took due credit for same, did not allow sufficient time for final results under absolutely new and tight tents, did not keep in touch with the work as in duty bound, in such an emergency, that such work was unscientific and inaccurate and shows deplorable lack of efficiency in an office where we have the right to look for the most expert advice, and Mr. Pease finally tries to place the blame for the woful failure upon the people or their agents in carrying out a very disagreeable and dangerous task, as is evidenced by the fact that men were overcome by the fumes in uncovering the trees and had to be carried out of the grove and restoratives administered.

We are fortunate in not losing any human life. We are not here today after any scalps. Mr. Pease, in his office, may be more efficient than ever before, if he learns this lesson and we want to know that he does else we need to hark back to the scriptural passage which declares that "if the watchman faileth to give the signal, if trumpet giveth an uncertain sound, the lives, or the property destroyed, will be required at the watchman's hands." Very truly yours,

GEO. G. LAIDLAW.

Cucamonga

E. H. Barmore attended the bank meeting and inspected his orange groves here Tuesday.

A. Dugan, formerly a resident here but who has been in Arizona during the past ten years, has returned to Cucamonga for another stay.

The Alta Loma Heights Orange association has been shipping oranges to New York City for the auction market, and the members are well pleased with the prices obtained thus far.

J. B. Fox of Fremont, Ore., formerly a well-known rancher here, is visiting his son at Los Angeles, and will remain a month or two on account of his health. He was at Cucamonga Tuesday to attend the bank meeting and remained for the Fraternal Aid banquet in the evening.

Wallace Stroud of Pomona was here Tuesday and noted the many changes and improvements made in this section since his last visit. He attended the Fraternal Aid banquet in the evening and made a report of the annual association meeting lately held at Lawrence, Kas., to which he was one of the delegates from Southern California.

D. O. Williams and his associates have completed the Red Hill tunnel from shaft No. 1 to shaft two, as per contract, and have been engaged to proceed with the tunnel work, being paid by the day instead of by contract. A supply of 50 inches of water is now flowing in the tunnel, and the water is worth much more than the work has cost the companies engaged in the undertaking.

The state highway has been graded by the contractors from Archibald avenue to the Gray place and sand and crushed rock have been hauled and dumped along the road for concreting. Wednesday's heavy rainfall will likely delay construction for a few days but will greatly aid in packing the soil and thus make a firmer foundation.

The Alta Loma Water company has been incorporated, with capital stock of 300 shares. The company has taken over the well on the S. Johnson place, Mr. Johnson holding 100 shares in the company and the other shares going to nearby ranchers. About 7000 feet of five-inch pipe will be purchased and laid by the company before the beginning of the irrigating season.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Sunset Water company was held at the pumping plant at Alta Loma Tuesday afternoon. Reports showed that the company had furnished a good supply of water to the irrigators during the past summer and had also sold land to the Pacific Electric railway and the Alta Loma Warehouse company at good prices. The following board of directors was elected to serve the ensuing year: Messrs. H. A. Puls, C. B. Motsinger, J. A. Hall, J. H. Rupp, and John Witson. The board organized by electing Mr. Puls president, Mr. Motsinger vice-president, and Mr. Hall secretary. M. T. Cabe was elected engineer and zanjero.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank was held Tuesday morning and there was a good attendance of the members. The reports made showed that the bank is in fine condition and the prospects for the future are very bright. The following board of directors was elected to serve the ensuing year: Messrs. E. H. Barmore, W. J. Kincaid, L. M. Ledig, F. A. Lucas and C. B. Motsinger. The board organized by electing Mr. Lucas president, Mr. Barmore vice-president, and H. O. Ward cashier. Mr. Ledig is the only new member of the board, having replaced J. M. Elliott of Los Angeles, who found it impossible to serve longer.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hermosa Water Co. was held Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance as the members were much interested in the reports to be made and the selection of a board of directors. The tunnel development in Deer Creek canyon was thoroughly discussed and it was shown that he amount of money actually spent on the work was much less than had been reported by those not conversant with the facts. The following members were proposed for directors and were elected without opposition: Messrs. J. F. Davis, W. H. Horst, Isaac Mowrer, L. A. Smith and J. G. Stoebe. Mr. Mowrer was elected president and J. M. Campbell secretary of the board.

Owing to the fact that Rev. R. C. Stone is spending the week with friends at Goldfeld and preaching there, Rev. C. R. Hagar will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit here on Sunday. Rev. Hagar's subject for Sunday morning will be, "What it costs to be a Christian in China." In the evening Rev. Hagar will give a stereopticon lecture using slides made from pictures which Rev. Hagar took in China and his lecture is said to not only be interesting but instructive. The Sunday school has recently elected new officers for the coming year, J. E. Sargent having been made superintendent, B. J. Spicer assistant superintendent, J. L. Grahame secretary, Miss Ruth Duncan treasurer. ALTA LOMA FOOTHILL OPPORTUNITIES.

80 Acres at $150, per Acre. Half Cash—80 acres all cleared up and ready to set to trees except some leveling to do. Water about one inch running gravity from tunnels of which is included and three miles of pipeline all connected up from tunnels in the mountains, with state water rights giving free water to this land. New large six-room house nearly completed, modern with large corner porch; all ground fenced and about ten acres fenced rabbit-tight; a good team of mules, two farm wagons, two sets of double harness, plows, mower, cultivator, and numerous other things to complete the ranch, all included. This land is located only three-quarters of a mile from the new Pacific Electric railroad built from Los Angeles to San Bernardino, which will be running and carrying passengers by next February; also a new packing house to be built near on the branch of the Santa Fe now being built close to this land and the best thing of all is that the county is putting the road up to a grade that is running past this land and is to be paved from Claremont to San Bernardino and Lytle Creek Canyon, making it the main north road for auto and general thoroughfare.

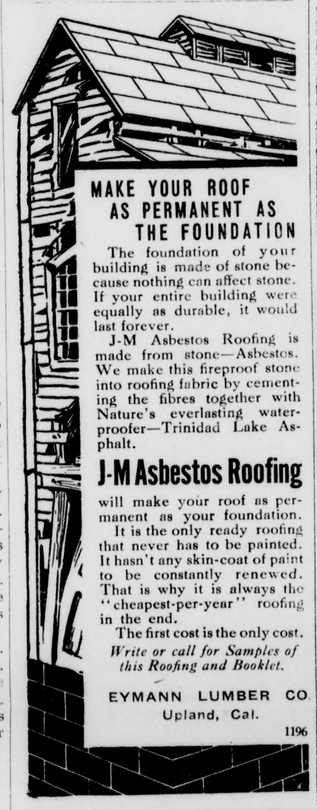

This land is for sale and is going to be sold. The owner knows that it is below the market price for which land is selling in this section of the country, but other business is more urgent and must be sold. No better land for citrus fruits can be found; oranges lemons, walnuts, peaches apricots, grapes, etc.

40 Acres at $75 an Acre—Unimproved; right on the electric railroad. This is about half price for this land and cannot be duplicated for the price. There is no water, but water can be developed or gotten easily as this land is only one mile from a postoffice, general store, school, packing house, and one of the best orange and lemon sections in the Pomona valley.

80 Acres at $100 per Acre—Partly in cultivation. This land is well located and cannot be beat for the money. Close to the eletcric railroad and a good opportunity for a grand investment. Don't fail to see it. No water, of course, for the price but good possibilities as the land it be set adjoining soon.

30 Acres, $100 per Acre—Unimproved; no water; but choice for citrus fruit or peaches. This land is all right for the money and is well located. No water, but water conditions good.

BUICK

The Delco installation in the Buick is something you may rely upon as a fulfilment of the Buick ideals, which means "uninterrupted use of his investment" to every Buick owner. All this at a cost which makes the self-starting, automatically-lighted Buick of 1914 the greatest motor car value offered this season.

There is a reason for this super-value: Buick cars are built complete in the Buick plant, in such numbers that literally hundreds of economies are effected in the necessary operations of casting, forging, machining, testing, assembling, etc.; and when completed, Buick cars are trustworthy and reliable, for every operation is Buick's own and nothing is left to chance or outsiders.

The factory savings and service savings effected by this gigantic organization and the experience gathered from the 150,000 Buicks that have made good, render it possible today for the Buick Motor Car Company to offer for 1914 a line that challenges comparison.
